Moscow Decision In Next Three Weeks May Affect Postwar World Events

NEW FOSTER HOME PROGRAM BEGUN IN THIS COUNTY

A foster home program is being inaugurated in Columbiana county by the Child Welfare department for the placement, care and supervision of orphaned children and wards of the county. Matthew A. Curry, director of the County Welfare department announced today.

Curry, who assumed the duties as head of the newly-created department May 15, announced that approximately 90 per cent of this county's children who are in foster or boarding homes, are being cared for in Stark county homes.

Through the creation of a foster home system in this county, Curry explained, it is hoped that these children may be replaced in Columbiana county homes, and all future placements made in this county.

Better Supervision, Claim

Primarily the move is being made in order that better supervision of children in the homes may be had, and it would mean the spending of approximately $1,000 per month for this purpose with county residents, Curry stated. The scale varies from $20 to $30 per month, according to the age of the child, he said.

Adoption of the foster home program is in line with the recent legislation in which the child's welfare is the paramount issue of the department, Curry stated, and regulations relating to the boarding of children in family homes have been advanced by the Welfare department's Division of Social Administration.

To meet with approval of the department, a foster home must meet certain legal requirements through the securing of a license or certificate, and the income of the home must be sufficient to maintain the family without boarding children.

Qualification of the foster parents, with regard to temperament and understanding, and the religious opportunities also enter into the requirements necessary for a boarding home, Curry said.

Fifty Columbiana county children are now being cared for in the Fairmount Children's home and they will remain there unless suitable foster homes can be located.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Diplomatic authorities here looked today for a series of historic foreign policy decisions by Moscow in the next three weeks affecting the whole immediate course of postwar events.

They believe Premier Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov will do the deciding before June 15—the date the foreign ministers' conference resumes in Paris—and thereby determine the extent of future Soviet cooperation with the United States and Britain in making the peace.

These are the critical issues on which the Kremlin now appears confronted with decisions:

1. Do the Soviet leaders consider it more important to keep Red occupation armies throughout eastern Europe or to get eastern European countries on a peacetime basis with regular treaties concluded?
2. Are they willing to make a settlement of the Trieste dispute which would fail to give Yugoslavia that entire strategic area at the head of the Adriatic? Some officials here say Trieste evidently has become a symbol of Russia's ability to deliver the goods for a friendly Communist government.
3. Will Stalin overrule Molotov's initial objections to the proposal by Secretary of State Byrnes for a 25-year four-power German control pact or will he uphold Molotov's objections to making such an agreement?

Urges New 'Big Three' Meeting

There still was some feeling on Capitol Hill the best way to deal with such issues would be another

OHIO STILL NEEDS RAIN; DOWNPOURS ARE JUST NORMAL

Millions of Ohioans who've been sloshing through the daily rains this month probably won't believe it, but a gentleman who knows says the central part of the state still needs more rainfall to bring it up to normal.

This district also, according to U. S. Cooperative Weather Observer L. H. Copeland of Millport, needs more rain to bring the year's total up to normal. Time far in May rainfall has totaled 3.11 inches, which is normal for the month with nine days yet to go.

Copeland said the total for the year so far is 10.88 inches, still slightly below the normal total for the year.

George Mindling, U. S. meteorologist at Columbus, said that despite 16 rainy days this month, rainfall for the year in Central Ohio still is more than two inches below normal. Since Jan. 1 a total of 12.28 inches has fallen, 3.26 inches this month.

J. E. Whonsetler, Franklin county agricultural agent, said the only difficulties encountered from all the water have been the delay in corn and soy bean planting and the impossibility of weeding gardens.

Normally all of the state's corn planting has been completed by this time, but this year only a fraction of the crops are in the ground, Whonsetler said. Fayette county, which reported nearly seven inches of rain, has only five per cent planted, and Ross county, 20 per cent.

Although one popular saying has it that each day of delay after May 15 cuts a bushel off the yield per acre, the farm agent said the safe period for Ohio corn planting is considered to run from May 12 to June 1.

The delay in one respect may help the corn crop, Whonsetler asserted, "since this is a particularly active period for the corn borer."

The U. S. Weather bureau reported "a great deal of concern has arisen, particularly in the northern part of the state," lest the delayed planting may result in frost injuries to the corn next fall.

Columbus Man To Speak At St. Jacob's Services

St. Jacob's Reformed church will hold its annual Memorial day service at 11 a. m. Sunday with Rev. O. L. Willis of Columbus, representative of the Ohio Council of Churches, speaking on the theme, "Those We Pass By."

Veterans are asked to be in uniform and lead the procession from the sanctuary to the cemetery, where flowers and flags will be placed on veterans' graves.

A basket dinner at 1 p. m. will be followed by the annual observance of Rural Life Sunday at 2:30. Rev. Willis, also the speaker for this occasion, will use for his subject, "Trustees of God's Bounty."

Members of neighboring churches, the Farm bureau and 4-H clubs will unite in this day of worship and fellowship.

SUBMIT NEW PLAN TO HALT RAIL STRIKE

Brotherhoods May See Truman Late Today On Final Proposal

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Railroad brotherhoods said today they had submitted to the government a "final proposition" for settlement of the rail strike and may confer during the day with President Truman.

A. P. Whitney, president of the trainmen's brotherhood, told a reporter Dr. John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, had advised him this morning by telephone that the brotherhood officials may be invited to the White House. Whitney said he is waiting to hear further from Steelman as to what time.

The strike of 250,000 engineers and trainmen is set for 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Final Proposal

"We gave Mr. Steelman a final proposition," Whitney said. "It is better than any we have submitted yet."

Whitney declined to give any details, saying, "you'll have to ask Dr. Steelman about that." The union leader said it was the second offer made since the two brotherhoods scaled down their wage demands from an original minimum of $2.50 a day and 25 per cent generally to a minimum $1.44 per day with a general 18 per cent wage boost.

"We now are waiting to hear from the government whether the new offer is acceptable to the carriers," Whitney said.

A spokesman for the carriers told newsmen that his group has neither heard from Dr. Steelman today nor had any word of a White House visit. Whitney said he did not know whether Steelman would invite only the brotherhoods to the White House or both the carriers and brotherhoods.

Negotiators said solution of the dispute would be relatively simple if only wages were at issue. One of the carrier spokesmen described brotherhood demands for changes in 45 working rules as "by far the most troublesome feature in the whole picture."

Working rules are the stipulated conditions under which railmen perform their duties. Among changes proposed by the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Trainmen are that the carriers pay for all uniforms and reimburse men for time lost during depot and switching delays and stopovers.

The carrier estimate the proposed rules changes would cost them $800,000,000 a year.

ALA DOUBTS RED TROOPS QUIT IRAN

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 22.—Hussein Ala, Iranian ambassador to the United States, expressed doubt today all Soviet troops had left Iran and told the United Nations Security council he believed Iran's case should stay on its agenda.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., United States delegate who was joined by Great Britain in a demand that the council keep the case before it, said after hearing Ala that he believed "more than ever that action should be deferred."

Ala told the council, with Russia still absent from the talks, that he believed "it was long after May 6 when all of the Soviet troops were withdrawn from Iran—if they are actually out now."

Ala made this statement only a few hours after sending the council a telegram from Premier Qavam of Iran stating a commission had found no trace of Soviet troops and that local people in the regions of Azerbaijan visited by the commission told it the Russians left Azerbaijan on May 6.

Firooz yesterday said all Russian troops were out of Iran. He further stated Ala's statement in New York Monday that Russian interference had not ceased was Ala's own views and not those of the Iranian government.

Ala told the council today Russia had created and trained Azerbaijan's army; that Iran had no control in that province; and that he could not say interference had ceased.

Plan $7,500 Improvement At Food Storage Plant

Approval has been obtained by the Keener Frozen Food locker plant, S. Broadway, for the addition of fast freezing improvements and additional curing room facilities on the northern side of the present building which was expanded somewhat last summer.

Theodore Coyne, manager of the plant, said the addition, which will be constructed as soon as possible, will not add to the plant's locker capacity but will simply improve fast freezing and curing room services already in operation.

The city building permit issued to cover the construction work places building costs at $7,500.

Ohioan Describes Malmady Massacre Which He Survived

(By Associated Press)

DACHAU, Germany, May 22.—An American ambulance driver who helped wounded Germans in Normandy told today how enemy troops ignored his Red Cross insignia and shot him four times after he surrendered at the Malmady crossroads Dec. 17, 1944.

Glaring at 74 SS war crimes defendants, Samuel Dobyns of Sudbury, O., described to a U. S. military court the shooting of more than 100 soldiers as they stood with hands upraised in surrender in a field in Belgium during the Battle of the Bulge.

Dobyns was trapped by cross-fire that day and his ambulance was riddled by machinegun fire. He said he had just painted new red crosses on it.

Hit the Dirt

He and his helper hit the dirt and the ambulance was wrecked against a tree. He surrendered to a group of German troops, he testified, and one private wanted to kill him on the spot.

"An officer told him not to shoot me," Dobyns said.

Dobyns said he was lined up with perhaps 150 others, including five wearing Red Cross insignia. A pistol shot rang out and a man near him fell.

"I broke ranks and ran to the rear," he said. "Then I heard another pistol shot and others in the rear started to disperse. At least a group of German troops, he testified, and one private wanted to kill him on the spot.

"I saw three or four German soldiers shoot the wounded that were crying for help. I thought I was the only one left alive."

After several hours, Dobyns and 15 or so others jumped up and ran to safety.

Dobyns said he could not identify the captors as SS men.

Homer D. Ford, a military police private of Leeton, Mo., told how he was captured that day and escaped from the bloody field also after he had been shot.

This testimony concluded the prosecution's presentation of eye witness accounts by five enlisted men and one lieutenant who survived the Malmady shootings. All six now have been mustered out. They were brought by plane to Dachau for the trial.

As the trial adjourned until Thursday, the six boarded a plane for the United States.

Freed In 42-Cent Theft

ASK GROUPS TO AID SELECTION OF METER TYPE

Safety Director Informed Funds For Extra Police Are Lacking

City council last night revived the parking meter issue and made plans for a meeting with the board of control, the Business Bureau Civic committee and representatives of meter firms in an attempt to decide what type meters should be installed in Salem.

The date of the meeting has not been set, pending an acceptable date for all parties concerned.

Council previously passed a resolution authorizing the city solicitor to draw up legislation to provide for installation of "manually operated" meters, but later rescinded the stipulation on the type of meters.

Plan Park Improvements

Park Committee Chairman Harry Vincent reported that a six-point plan of improvement at Centennial park is planned after consultation with the city's two-man park commission.

Planned are: (1) Application of a black-top surface to at least one tennis court at Centennial; (2) addition of concrete walks in several places in the park; (3) addition of bleacher facilities for the southern softball diamond; (4) improvements of the condition of the dirt driveways in the park; (5) purchase of slag for the driveways and (6) a plan to allow park employees use of city service department equipment in park care.

No report was made by the park committee on the problem of furnishing an additional softball diamond for Class B league play this summer.

New Police Funds Lacking

The city presented a request of Safety Director Carl Phillips for additional patrolmen "to increase the efficiency of the police force" was by-passed by council after Wentz reported that funds are not available at this time to provide salaries for additional police.

Wentz, as chairman of the water committee, also reported that progress is being made on the construction of the three million gallon water reservoir southwest of the Newgarden st. city limits.

Council resolved to accept the plat and dedication of a street within the city limits near Newgarden st., now called the Jones addition.

Acting President of Council Fred Koenreich referred complaints on water drainage from Gus Bonfert, S. Union ave., and Joseph Pasco and August DeCrow, both of Madison ave., to the sewer committee and City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff for inspection.

Transfer of funds, amounting to $1,337.52, was made from the general and water funds to the various relief and retirement funds by emergency action and on four ordinances.

The monthly report from Mayor R. R. Johnson's court showed an income of $500 in May. Broken down, this showed building permits, $19; licenses, $12; city fines, $146.60; state patrol, $250 and city costs $72.20.

Humpty-Dumptyism

A formal protest filed by United Automobile Workers against future price increases in the automobile industry is a curious aftermath of one of the most aggressive wage-busting campaigns ever fought under the banner of labor unionism.

Walter Reuther, U. A. W. president, was the first loud voice to tell the people that hourly rates of pay could be raised 30 per cent in the auto industry with no increase in the price of the product. Subsequently, he was backed up by the me-too chorus of government, led by Henry Wallace, nominally the head of a department whose employees all know better than to say such a thing.

Of course, auto prices increased. More increases are in prospect. The era of the "cheap" automobile has been brought to a jolting stop. General Motors and Ford both have announced plans to produce a whittled-down model, to try to recapture the non-luxury market—the mass production business built after World War I on cheap transportation for the masses. The rising price of labor has pushed the cheapest present models into the luxury bracket.

United Automobile Workers can find plenty of reason for alarm, but Mr. Reuther and his brain-trusters are waking up a little late. Putting Humpty-Dumpty back together again is a tough proposition.

Charity Not The Whole Answer

In the third of his reports on the state of the international grocery basket, Herbert Hoover bears down hard on a matter hinted at broadly in his second report.

Charity, he asserted, is not a proper basis for worldwide food distribution. "I cannot emphasize too strongly," said Mr. Hoover Monday night before the food and agricultural organization of the United Nations, "that charitable distribution is hugely wasteful and inefficient. Charity should be organized separately. . . . Special feeding and medical care of physically subnormal children should be organized systematically and should be the sole charitable contribution of governments."

Besides eliminating charity as the food relief basis, Mr. Hoover also would eliminate UNRRA as the food-distributing agency. Its "earnest" employees, he points out, are covering only about 20 per cent of the need. He believes there should be a new organization, taking charge after next Sept. 1, beginning a new food year and a new policy of quid pro quo, except for aid to physically subnormal children. "The first voice of war is the guns—but the final voice in making peace is food," Mr. Hoover concludes.

It strikes, or should strike, millions of Mr. Hoover's countrymen that if he had been called on for council a year sooner than he was America's final voice in making peace might be more effectual.

The Flavor Was Authentic

Perhaps in the welter of words about Booth Tarkington a few more struggling and unrecognized writers will find encouragement to stay everlastingly at their self-appointed task of story-telling.

Tarkington had authentic flavor. It was his greatest attribute, greater even than his tremendous energy. He had the flavor of his people and his time—not the raw, barbed stuff they call realism, nor the delicate thing native Hoosiers would sniff at as "artiness" in Indiana, but the blend of whimsy, idiom, wisdom, morality and cultural condiments that make the middle reaches of the United States an endless source of wonder for all who baffle themselves trying to understand its exact composition.

As writers go, Tarkington was not great, only successful. There is a difference. To be a successful writer is an absolute thing; it can be measured by output and income. To be a great writer, however, depends on the judgment of a number of persons who are not themselves great but reserve the right to proclaim greatness when they think they have found it. Few of these judges found greatness in Booth Tarkington. They were too busy envying his success and deriding people who didn't care about greatness but always had their glasses wiped off when Tarkington's latest book showed up.

The Critics Were Too Ambitious

Thoughtful onlookers in Washington are passing back word that the question of an armed services merger has been decided by circumstances beyond public control.

The professionals in all branches concerned have put up such a hard fight for their respective points of view that Congress will settle the matter eventually with the best compromise it can make of their divergent opinions.

This will not satisfy critics of divided authority over national security, but it is evident now that the critics expected too much. Angered by wartime evidence that divided authority was expensive and frequently inefficient, they had hoped to bring about a sweeping reform.

But sweeping reforms are not brought about at the expense of fundamental divisions of government. The War and Navy departments, with their traditions and loyal personnel, were able to bring more pressure to bear on government than the people, who weren't interested in fighting the issue to a showdown.

The great reform movement that gets under way at the close of every war, to make the fighting services as efficient as they could be made, has about blown itself out for another generation. There will be some changes made, and they might be radical. But there will be no overturning of institutions, prerogatives and personnel, which was the original intention.

Glad Tidings

Army Air Forces surgeons, "mainly for the sake of morale," have made some electronic experiments whose comforting conclusions can scarcely be overpraised. Thanks to them, we can rest assured that, though atoms and inflation and more strikes and less food may threaten, radar does not cause baldness or sterility.

There, little man, don't you feel better now?

Wrong Approach

A Swiss inventor has gone home after vainly trying to interest American manufacturers in his "smell-vision," a device that would add approximate odors to sound and picture in movies and television.

Probably he wasn't here long enough to realize that what this country really needs is something to take the odor out of a great many Class B films.

There are signs of confused notions or perplexities with an urge to tackle such problems ruthlessly, drastically and forcefully rather than with forethought and intelligence. Tact, finesse and complacency prove more gainful and happy.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively and pleasant year in which social, domestic, affectional and artistic affairs bring much happiness and success. In business, financial and kindred matters, where contracts, agreements or tacit understandings exist there is sign of confusion, conflict and entanglements. It would be of aggravated danger to attempt to force issues, or to drastically or ruthlessly get decisions where calm and intelligent composure would prove more lucrative and lasting.

Skin Grafting In Curing Leg Ulcers

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D. as follows. A test is made to determine the type of germs present in the ulcer, and then the ulcer is bandaged with dressings kept wet with a boric acid solution. After four to nine days, a second culture is taken.

This culture usually shows the same type of germs present as when the first culture was made, that is, the hemolytic streptococcus and staphylococcus. They give penicillin by injection into a muscle every three hours for from one to two days. A third culture is then taken, and usually shows that no germs are present in the ulcer. The skin graft is then done. A dry gauze dressing is put on and bandaged firmly in place. After the skin graft, the penicillin is continued for from one to three days depending on the severity of the original infection.

This type of treatment was successful in all nine of the cases treated.

Skin Grafting

For many years, these ulcers, when larger than two inches in diameter, have been treated with skin grafting of the type known as pinch grafting because it is done with many tiny bits of skin rather than one large sheet. Sometimes, however, these grafts refused to take and it was felt that this failure was perhaps due to infection of the ulcer with certain types of germs.

For this reason Drs. Nomland and Wallace made cultures from ulcers in a number of patients to determine the type of germs present. They decided that the chief cause of the trouble was the hemolytic streptococcus and the hemolytic staphylococcus.

When either one of these types of germs was present, the grafts usually took well but if both were present the results were poor. They decided that the use of antiseptic preparations on the ulcer would not control the infection but, perhaps, giving one of the sulfonamide drugs by mouth would succeed. They gave sulfathiazole three days previous to and three days after the skin grafts and attained good results.

Develops Rash

However, many of the patients developed skin rashes because they were sensitive to the sulfathiazole. When penicillin became available, they decided to try it in place of the sulfathiazole.

The treatment which Drs. Nomland and Wallace use is carried out

LaGuardia Urges Better-Off Nations To Keep Donating Food

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22—UNRRA Director Fiorello LaGuardia urged today that better-off countries keep on giving food to hungry lands instead of transforming "an international agency of mercy into an international pawnshop."

He differed with former President Hoover, who recommended yesterday that charity donations of food be brought to an end and replaced by long-term credit arrangements.

LaGuardia spoke as head of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration. His audience was an international food conference.

"To compel a starving nation to borrow on long term for food," he said, "is not in keeping with the new world we are taking about."

LaGuardia did agree with Hoover that UNRRA must come to an end eventually, and that a permanent international agency must take over the problem of meeting a continuing food crisis in the next few years. UNRRA will do its best to do a good job, he said, until a permanent agency is established.

Rep. Cleveland (R-Ohio) urged in a house agriculture committee meeting today that "we get rid of UNRRA" in order to preserve the American grain for seed.

Cleveland complained that insufficient demands for grain were being made on the Ukraine and countries presently under Russian occupation—the area known, he said, as "the bread basket of Europe."

LaGuardia replied that UNRRA was not a pawnshop, but a "broad basket of Europe."

Humpty-Dumptyism

A formal protest filed by United Automobile Workers against future price increases in the automobile industry is a curious aftermath of one of the most aggressive wage-busting campaigns ever fought under the banner of labor unionism.

Walter Reuther, U. A. W. president, was the first loud voice to tell the people that hourly rates of pay could be raised 30 per cent in the auto industry with no increase in the price of the product. Subsequently, he was backed up by the me-too chorus of government, led by Henry Wallace, nominally the head of a department whose employees all know better than to say such a thing.

Of course, auto prices increased. More increases are in prospect. The era of the "cheap" automobile has been brought to a jolting stop. General Motors and Ford both have announced plans to produce a whittled-down model, to try to recapture the non-luxury market—the mass production business built after World War I on cheap transportation for the masses. The rising price of labor has pushed the cheapest present models into the luxury bracket.

United Automobile Workers can find plenty of reason for alarm, but Mr. Reuther and his brain-trusters are waking up a little late. Putting Humpty-Dumpty back together again is a tough proposition.

Charity Not The Whole Answer

In the third of his reports on the state of the international grocery basket, Herbert Hoover bears down hard on a matter hinted at broadly in his second report.

Charity, he asserted, is not a proper basis for worldwide food distribution. "I cannot emphasize too strongly," said Mr. Hoover Monday night before the food and agricultural organization of the United Nations, "that charitable distribution is hugely wasteful and inefficient. Charity should be organized separately. . . . Special feeding and medical care of physically subnormal children should be organized systematically and should be the sole charitable contribution of governments."

Besides eliminating charity as the food relief basis, Mr. Hoover also would eliminate UNRRA as the food-distributing agency. Its "earnest" employees, he points out, are covering only about 20 per cent of the need. He believes there should be a new organization, taking charge after next Sept. 1, beginning a new food year and a new policy of quid pro quo, except for aid to physically subnormal children. "The first voice of war is the guns—but the final voice in making peace is food," Mr. Hoover concludes.

It strikes, or should strike, millions of Mr. Hoover's countrymen that if he had been called on for council a year sooner than he was America's final voice in making peace might be more effectual.

The Flavor Was Authentic

Perhaps in the welter of words about Booth Tarkington a few more struggling and unrecognized writers will find encouragement to stay everlastingly at their self-appointed task of story-telling.

Tarkington had authentic flavor. It was his greatest attribute, greater even than his tremendous energy. He had the flavor of his people and his time—not the raw, barbed stuff they call realism, nor the delicate thing native Hoosiers would sniff at as "artiness" in Indiana, but the blend of whimsy, idiom, wisdom, morality and cultural condiments that make the middle reaches of the United States an endless source of wonder for all who baffle themselves trying to understand its exact composition.

As writers go, Tarkington was not great, only successful. There is a difference. To be a successful writer is an absolute thing; it can be measured by output and income. To be a great writer, however, depends on the judgment of a number of persons who are not themselves great but reserve the right to proclaim greatness when they think they have found it. Few of these judges found greatness in Booth Tarkington. They were too busy envying his success and deriding people who didn't care about greatness but always had their glasses wiped off when Tarkington's latest book showed up.

The Critics Were Too Ambitious

Thoughtful onlookers in Washington are passing back word that the question of an armed services merger has been decided by circumstances beyond public control.

The professionals in all branches concerned have put up such a hard fight for their respective points of view that Congress will settle the matter eventually with the best compromise it can make of their divergent opinions.

This will not satisfy critics of divided authority over national security, but it is evident now that the critics expected too much. Angered by wartime evidence that divided authority was expensive and frequently inefficient, they had hoped to bring about a sweeping reform.

But sweeping reforms are not brought about at the expense of fundamental divisions of government. The War and Navy departments, with their traditions and loyal personnel, were able to bring more pressure to bear on government than the people, who weren't interested in fighting the issue to a showdown.

The great reform movement that gets under way at the close of every war, to make the fighting services as efficient as they could be made, has about blown itself out for another generation. There will be some changes made, and they might be radical. But there will be no overturning of institutions, prerogatives and personnel, which was the original intention.

Glad Tidings

Army Air Forces surgeons, "mainly for the sake of morale," have made some electronic experiments whose comforting conclusions can scarcely be overpraised. Thanks to them, we can rest assured that, though atoms and inflation and more strikes and less food may threaten, radar does not cause baldness or sterility.

There, little man, don't you feel better now?

Wrong Approach

A Swiss inventor has gone home after vainly trying to interest American manufacturers in his "smell-vision," a device that would add approximate odors to sound and picture in movies and television.

Probably he wasn't here long enough to realize that what this country really needs is something to take the odor out of a great many Class B films.

Skin Grafting In Curing Leg Ulcers

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN, M.D.
TRADITIONALLY, leg ulcers have been troublesome for older men and women.

Due, as a rule, to some disturbance in the circulation produced by enlarged or varicose veins, they stubbornly resisted healing despite all that doctors could do. Furthermore, they showed a tendency to spread so that, often large areas of the leg would be transformed into running sores and the unfortunate patient would be confined to bed for long, weary months, or even years.

Now, recent work done by Doctors Ruben Nomland and Evelyn G. Wallace of Iowa City, gives hope of quick and easy cure of this troublesome condition.

Skin Grafting
For many years, these ulcers, when larger than two inches in diameter, have been treated with skin grafting of the type known as pinch grafting because it is done with many tiny bits of skin rather than one large sheet. Government Buys Half Of Butter At Markets

CHICAGO, May 22. — Purchases by the government are taking as much as one-half of all butter arriving at big city markets, the Department of Agriculture said today.

Government buying during May for the armed forces equals 50 per cent of production. Many creameries sell a large part of their output to the local country trade. Thus, the government's "take" at major terminals, where it does its buying, is much greater than 20 per cent of receipts.

G. O. P. Would Lift Price Controls June 30

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A new formula for ending price controls aimed at lifting them off everything except rents and building materials by June 30, 1947—was advanced today by Republicans on the senate banking committee.

It would direct that OPA during the last six months of this year take ceilings off items representing 40 per cent of the national production, take them off an additional 20 per cent in the first three months of 1947, and off the final 40 per cent in the succeeding three months.

There were 2,450 deaths due to firearms accidents during 1944.

Unionist Loses In Compensation Suit

COLUMBUS, May 22—Members of labor unions may not refuse a job in a non-union plant and draw unemployment compensation, the Ohio Supreme court ruled today.

Reversing the appellate court of Franklin county (Columbus), the supreme tribunal held where the employer imposes no conditions of employment with respect to a labor union the union employee may not refuse employment in the non-union shop and draw compensation.

The 5 to 2 decision was rendered in an action brought by Harvey Edward Chamber of Columbus, a member of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, to compel the payment of unemployment compensation.

Compensation had been refused on the ground he had been referred to a non-union shop for employment but refused to accept proffered employment on grounds that his acceptance would violate a union rule forbidding union members to work on non-union jobs.

ATLANTIC CITY, May 22.—The 55th continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution today ordered dissolution of the "committee against racial discrimination in the use of Constitution hall," headed by Rep. Clare Booth Luce (R-Conn.).

The 2,000 delegates to the congress approved a resolution which "orders the immediate dissolution of the 17-woman committee which sought to have the words 'white artists only' deleted from rental contracts for the DAR's hall in Washington, D. C."

The resolution said the committee did not seek permission to function from either the D.A.R. congress or the national board of management and, therefore was unconstitutional.

Orrie Wright Hurls No-Hitter As China Beats Deming, 5 to 0, To Drop Pumpers From Lead; Recreation Moves To Top Place

Any One of Half a Dozen Ohio Schools Can Capture State Track Championship

By HAROLD HARRISON,
Ohio A. P. Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, May 22.—A survey today of performances in last week's district meets brought additional proof that any one of a half dozen or more schools can win Ohio's 1946 Class "A" High school track championship Saturday.

Athletes competed on heavy tracks throughout the state and there was rain at several of the centers which might account for rather disappointing performances by some of the more highly touted tracksters.

The district times and distances did little, however, to enhance the prestige of Toledo Devilbiss and Akron North, which had been rated as the state's powerhouses by virtue of a string of successes in previous meets.

Between them they had only one "best" in the districts. That was the 1:34 turned in by Devilbiss in the half mile relay.

Mansfield's defending state champions also had only one "best." That was Ollie Cline's 11 foot 9 inch effort in the pole vault but he is hoped to face some rugged opposition from Isaacson of Dayton Fairview. Isaacson went only 11 feet last week but he has crowded the 12 foot mark on other occasions this year.

Cleveland East Tech, long time state champion until dethroned by Mansfield last year, won four firsts, but didn't have a single best time. The Scarabs will have to put most of their chances in just four events—the two hurdles races and the two relays.

At the same time, Cleveland Rhodes moved into the picture with three "bests" in the districts.

A big part of Rhodes' hopes, however, rest with Dick Sisk, ace hurdler, who must do battle with Jack Lewis of Columbus Bexley in both hurdle races. Sisk had a 14.9 second performance in the high stick Saturday to 15 seconds for Lewis and both turned in 25.1 seconds over the low barriers.

Off their district performances and in view of their manpower strength, Devilbiss and Akron North figure to score heavily in seconds, thirds, fourths and fifths and those might swing the meet.

Here are the best district performances:

100-yard dash—10.1 seconds by Kraus of Lakewood.

220-yard dash—23 seconds by Lockwood of Columbus North and Corbin of Warren.

440-yard run—51.2 seconds by Kummer of Akron Garfield.

880-yard run—1:58 by Phillips of Dayton Dunbar.

1 mile run—4:36 by Mudge of Canton McKinley.

120-yard high hurdles—14.9 seconds by Sisk of Cleveland Rhodes.

220-yard low hurdles—25.1 seconds by Sisk of Cleveland Rhodes and Lewis of Columbus Bexley.

Mile relay—3:35.1 by Cleveland Rhodes.

Shot put—48 feet 10 1/2 inches by Ferris of Toledo Libby.

Discus—143 feet 1 1/2 inches by

He is billed at the Memorial building at 8:30 p. m. Thursday as an opponent for Frank "Toar" Julian in the featured match in a three-event card as a benefit for the Salem Junior Democratic club's soldier fund.

Mullins And Sinclair Stay Undefeated In American's Activity At Centennial

Orrie "Boss" Wright, slugging Salem China first baseman, stole the show in Class A softball last night when he shifted to the mound and tossed a no-hit game against a highly-rated Deming outfit to win, 5-0, and move Demings into third place as the Recreation trounced the Saxons, 9-4, to step into a first-place tie with the once-victorious Italian Athletics.

In the American league things went about as expected with Chet Brautigam hurling five-hit ball for Sinclair to nose out the unlucky Eagles, 4-2, in an extra inning affair, while Mullins literally ruined the hapless Veterans of Foreign Wars, 16-1, in a game that was called at the close of four and a half innings.

Mullins, Sinclair and Leetonia now remain at the top of the American loop pile, all being unbeaten so far this season.

Wright's amazing show against a Deming squad which has been hitting well in three previous games this season marks the fourth no-hit game at the park this year, indicating a season of either very poor hitting or excellent pitching talents.

It was Wright's third no-hitter in Class A history, two previous ones coming three years ago in one season.

Dave Kachner helped Wright along with a lead-off home run in the fourth inning, when three of the five runs crossed the plate. Wright slapped out two for three to maintain his powerful batting pace.

Demings' Kenny Brudery hauled good ball, allowing only six hits, five runs and issuing free passes to just three Potters. Wright walked three and fanned three while Brudery struck out nine.

The Recreation stepped into a top rating with an impressive 9-4 win over an errorless Saxon crew. The Old Timers posted four miscues yesterday, two by Wink Miller, one by Jimmie Primm and a fourth on Ted Scott.

"Sim" Early took over the tossing chores for the Rec and limited the Saxons to eight bingles, walking only two men.

The Old Timers again won on a belated rally, scoring one run in the third to trail, 2-1, and then crashing through with five in the fourth and three more in the sixth. Nine hits paid off for the nine runs.

Earl May's single, an error on Sinclair's Dave Ritchie at short, and a fielder's choice gave the Eagles two big runs in the first frame, after Sinclair had scored a pair to start with on Bob Miller's second home run of the season.

From then on until the top of the eighth, the first extra frame, things went along at a perfect pace—no one scoring. It looked like a deadlock until Gale Stewart doubled with one away, Miller singled for his third hit in four trips and Tommy Houlette drove two across with a sharp single in the eighth.

Sinclair's four run total was too much for the Eagles and Brautigam retired Jim Armeni, Bob "Doggie" Scullion and John DeFavero in order to close hostilities.

The Sinclair slow-baller walked his first man of the year and fanned two, Henry Dermotta, pitching a beautiful game, walked four and whiffed five.

Johnny Zines and Mullins had a picnic with the VFW for the third straight factory win. Zines fanned two and walked none as he allowed two hits, the first of the season from his offerings.

CREIGHTON MILLER TO ASSIST BROWN IN CLEVELAND JOB

CLEVELAND, May 22.—Creighton Miller, former All-American halfback at Notre Dame who was backfield coach at Yale university last fall, will join the Cleveland Browns as an assistant coach when the Cleveland entry in the All-America opens its training sessions at Bowling Green on or about Aug. 1.

Miller, now a student at the Yale law school has acted as a scout for general manager-coach Paul E. Brown. He will remain with the Browns until Dec. 1 when he returns to school. In addition to Miller, Brown's board of strategists includes William (Red) Conkright, John Brickels, Fritz Heisler and Bob Voigts.

In 1943, his last season at Notre Dame, Miller's running sparked the Irish to one of their great seasons. Although selected by the Brooklyn Tilters of the National Football league as their first choice in the 1944 player draft, Miller chose to go to law school and to turn to coaching.

Brown also announced the signing of two more players, Charles

Mye who played tackle for Colgate and Ray Terrell, a halfback from the University of Mississippi.

Brown also revealed that center Herb Coleman has been traded to the Chicago Rockets and guard Alex Kapler has been sent to Los Angeles Dons.

In exchange, the Browns received the right to deal with two players on the reserve lists of the above two teams. The Browns' roster lists 41 players.

'Pitiless Pole' To Challenge 'Toar'

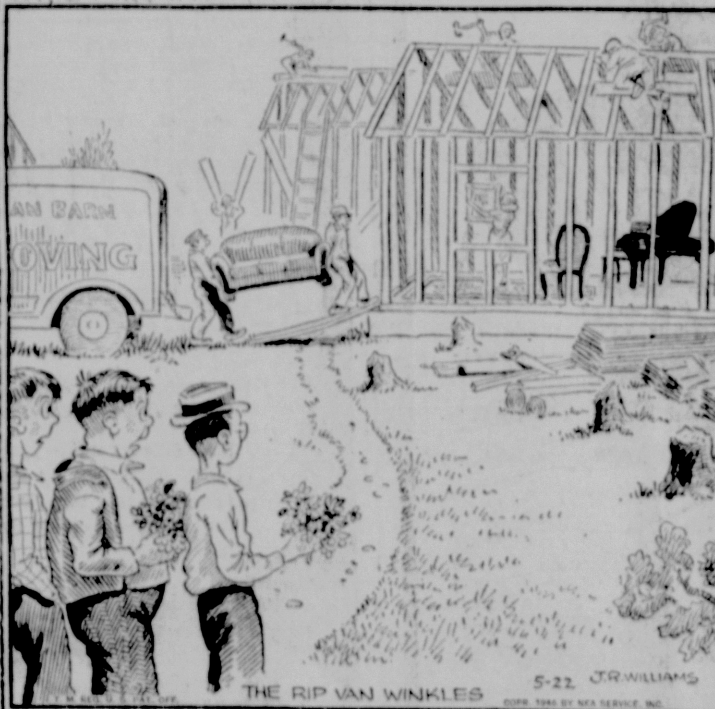

ALEX KASOBOSKI, Polish wrestler from Toronto, Canada, is known throughout the mat world as the "Pitiless Pole" because of his rough tactics on the wrestling pad. A veteran of 12 years in the mat sport and rated one of the foremost contenders for the world's title, he stands nearly six feet and scales 195 pounds.

He is billed at the Memorial building at 8:30 p. m. Thursday as an opponent for Frank "Toar" Julian in the featured match in a three-event card as a benefit for the Salem Junior Democratic club's soldier fund.

Orrie "Boss" Wright, slugging Salem China first baseman, stole the show in Class A softball last night when he shifted to the mound and tossed a no-hit game against a highly-rated Deming outfit to win, 5-0, and move Demings into third place as the Recreation trounced the Saxons, 9-4, to step into a first-place tie with the once-victorious Italian Athletics.

In the American league things went about as expected with Chet Brautigam hurling five-hit ball for Sinclair to nose out the unlucky Eagles, 4-2, in an extra inning affair, while Mullins literally ruined the hapless Veterans of Foreign Wars, 16-1, in a game that was called at the close of four and a half innings.

Mullins, Sinclair and Leetonia now remain at the top of the American loop pile, all being unbeaten so far this season.

Wright's amazing show against a Deming squad which has been hitting well in three previous games this season marks the fourth no-hit game at the park this year, indicating a season of either very poor hitting or excellent pitching talents.

It was Wright's third no-hitter in Class A history, two previous ones coming three years ago in one season.

Dave Kachner helped Wright along with a lead-off home run in the fourth inning, when three of the five runs crossed the plate. Wright slapped out two for three to maintain his powerful batting pace.

Demings' Kenny Bruderly hurled good ball, allowing only six hits, five runs and issuing free passes to just three Potters. Wright walked three and fanned three while Bruderly struck out nine.

The Recreation stepped into a top rating with an impressive 9-4 win over an errorless Saxon crew. The Old Timers posted four miscues yesterday, two by Wink Miller, one by Jimmie Prim and a fourth on Ted Scott.

"Sim" Early took over the tossing chores for the Rec and limited the Saxons to eight bingles, walking only two men.

The Old Timers again won on a belated rally, scoring one run in the third to trail, 2-1, and then crashing through with five in the fourth and three more in the sixth. Nine hits paid off for the nine runs.

Earl May's single, an error on Sinclair's Dave Ritchie at short and a fielder's choice gave the Eagles two big runs in the first frame, after Sinclair had scored a pair to start with on Bob Miller's second home run of the season.

From then on until the top of the eighth, the first extra frame, things went along at a perfect pace—no one scoring. It looked like a deadlock until Gale Stewart doubled with one away, Miller singled for his third hit in four trips and Tommy Houlette drove two across with a sharp single in the eighth.

Sinclair's four run total was too much for the Eagles and Brautigam retired Jim Arment, Bob "Doggie" Skullion and John DeFavero in order to close hostilities.

The Sinclair slow-baller walked his first man of the year and fanned two. Henry Dermotta, pitching a beautiful game, walked four and whiffed five.

Johnny Zines and Mullins had a picnic with the VFW for the third straight factory win. Zines fanned two and walked none as he allowed two hits, the first of the season from his offerings.

Past Presidents Attend

Past presidents at the party included: Mrs. Elizabeth Lease Votaw, the second president; Ruth Ellen Stamp, Mrs. Baker, Miss Simpson, Miss Zillah Stamp, Miss Hoch, Miss Mena McArthur and Miss Elsie Thomas.

While the club's special service is loaning money, without interest, to young people in pursuit of a higher education, through the years it has taken an active interest in civic affairs.

The committee which arranged the party was composed of: Mrs. Baker, Miss Callahan, Miss Ruth Ellen Stamp, Miss Hoch, Miss Tamar Thumm, Mrs. Rinie Wark, Miss Ray Heckert, Miss McArthur, Miss Ray Pearce and Mrs. Ray Kenneigh.

Among the out-of-town guests were Ethel N. Beck and Barbara Turkle of Alliance; Hazel Hutcherson and Mrs. E. V. Renwick of Cleveland and Caroline Kimmel and Frances Taylor of Youngstown. The Beaver club had a delegation of 22 members.

Despite rationing and lack of new cars, auto registration in California reached an all-time high during the first six months of 1945—2,972,223.

Mine Leaders Mum On Seizure Order

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—AFL-United Mine Workers district leaders kept mum today on government seizure of the soft coal pits—awaiting "the word" from Union Boss John L. Lewis—while roving pickets made further inroads on strike trace production in Pennsylvania.

Output in the rich Pennsylvania fields—second only to West Virginia as a producer—faded to about 17 per cent of a normal daily production of approximately 500,000 tons as pickets closed three major mines, reducing to a comparative handful the number of the state's 100,000 miners still at work.

West Virginia, which has been virtually free of picketing operations during the two-week truce ending Saturday, reported today 80 miners in three major works greeted the seizure order by walking out of the pits.

One Pittsburgh district mine union local president, who requested anonymity, said:

"The last time the mines were taken over, we went back—but it was because of the war, not because of the government."

State To Seek Damages For Use of Fairgrounds

COLUMBUS, May 22.—The state of Ohio will seek "well over a million dollars" from the U. S. government for damages to the Ohio state fairgrounds during its wartime use as an army air forces depot, Agricultural Director John M. Hodson announced today.

Hodson said stalls were ripped out, building troughs filled with concrete, coliseum and grandstand seats removed, 275 trees killed and 45 of the fairgrounds more than 100 acres covered with gravel and ash.

SENTENCE BROTHERS FOR TAX EVASION

CLEVELAND, May 22.—Frank Budak, 46, and Joe Budak, 48, both of Youngstown, today pleaded guilty to charges of income tax evasion and were sentenced to two and one-half years each. Court attaches said the sentences, pronounced by Judge Emerich Freed, were the heaviest ever given in northern Ohio for tax evasion.

Described in the indictment as gamblers, they pleaded guilty to evading $50,000 in federal income taxes during 1940 and 1941.

Francis B. Kavanagh, assistant U. S. attorney, told the judge in a five-month period the brothers received $200,000 in horse race bets from Charles Stiefel, and that Stiefel won back $51,000. Kavanagh identified Stiefel as president of a bank at Ellwood City, Pa.

The Budaks were scheduled to go on trial today, but changed their plea to guilty as the case was called.

Seek Homes For Vets
EAST LIVERPOOL, May 22.—Don Eckert, president of 171-Vets of World War II, composed of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia ex-servicemen, today urged city council to ask the government to move surplus army barracks here to ease the housing shortage for veterans.

MOSCOW

"Big Three"—or even a "Big Two" conference.

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) told newsmen he urgently advocated a meeting of President Truman, Stalin and Britain's Prime Minister Attlee to iron out existing differences and restore the close cooperation of wartime.

In the opinion of persons familiar with the recessed negotiations of the "Big Four" at Paris, the thing most likely to force Russia's hand is Byrnes' announced intention to take the whole problem of European peace-making into the United Nations general assembly unless the big powers quickly get together.

In the United Nations assembly the disagreements over peace treaty issues, such as Trieste, would be worked out in recommendations adopted by the assembly by two-thirds, rather than unanimous vote. Russia would face the prospect of being outvoted, and there is some speculation that in such a predicament the Russians might feel compelled to withdraw from assembly sessions concerned with peacemaking as they have withdrawn from Security council sessions concerned with Iran.

COLUMBUS, May 22.—The state of Ohio will seek "well over a million dollars" from the U. S. government for damages to the Ohio state fairgrounds during its wartime use as an army air force depot, Agricultural Director John M. Hodson announced today.

Hodson said stalls were ripped out, building troughs filled with concrete, coliseum and grandstand seats removed, 275 trees killed and 45 of the fairgrounds more than 100 acres covered with gravel and ash.

SENTENCE BROTHERS FOR TAX EVASION

CLEVELAND, May 22.—Frank Budak, 46, and Joe Budak, 48, both of Youngstown, today pleaded guilty to charges of income tax evasion and were sentenced to two and one-half years each. Court attaches said the sentences, pronounced by Judge Emerich Freed, were the heaviest ever given in northern Ohio for tax evasion.

Described in the indictment as gamblers, they pleaded guilty to evading $50,000 in federal income taxes during 1940 and 1941.

Francis B. Kavanagh, assistant U. S. attorney, told the judge in a five-month period the brothers received $200,000 in horse race bets from Charles Stiefel, and that Stiefel won back $51,000. Kavanagh identified Stiefel as president of a bank at Ellwood City, Pa.

The Budaks were scheduled to go on trial today, but changed their plea to guilty as the case was called.

Seek Homes For Vets

EAST LIVERPOOL, May 22.—Don Eckert, president of 171-Vets of World War II, composed of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia ex-servicemen, today urged city council to ask the government to move surplus army barracks here to ease the housing shortage for veterans.

"Big Three"—or even a "Big Two" conference.

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) told newsmen he urgently advocated a meeting of President Truman, Stalin and Britain's Prime Minister Attlee to iron out existing differences and restore the close cooperation of wartime.

In the opinion of persons familiar with the recessed negotiations of the "Big Four" at Paris, the thing most likely to force Russia's hand is Byrnes' announced intention to take the whole problem of European peace-making into the United Nations general assembly unless the big powers quickly get together.

In the United Nations assembly the disagreements over peace treaty issues, such as Trieste, would be worked out in recommendations adopted by the assembly by two-thirds, rather than unanimous vote. Russia would face the prospect of being outvoted, and there is some speculation that in such a predicament the Russians might feel compelled to withdraw from assembly sessions concerned with peacemaking as they have withdrawn from Security council sessions concerned with Iran.
